Tips for successfully growing your dwarf basil

Patience, it grows! Fine green basil likes to take its time.

It grows in layers, with numerous branches giving rise to small leaves. Wait until there are at least 3 knots on the stem before harvesting for the first time (about 15 cm high).

From 4-5 weeks or when the plant has 3 nodes on the stem, you can start harvesting. Cut a stem 1 cm above a node (no more!). Be sure to leave at least 10 cm of stem. Give priority to cutting the tallest leaves and those that shade the other Lingots. You can then enjoy your basil every week for 4 to 6 months.

It's important to prune and harvest your herbs regularly, before the leaves reach the light.
