When Devialet hit the stage of the hi-fi world more than 10 years ago with the Devialet EXPERT 140 PRO, the design and fascinating design of the French amplifier was a real revolution. And that is still true today for the successor models of the Devialet EXPERT series PRO - thanks to constant development, Devialet has managed to be always (at least) one step ahead of the competition.

Already in the entry-level model, the Devialet EXPERT 140 PRO stereo amplifier, you will find all the technologies that make Devialet products so unique, especially the hybrid amplifier technology ADH® in the latest version V2. ADHV2® brilliantly combines the sonic benefits of analog amplification with the precision and power of modern Class D amplifiers.

With the active speaker management SAM®, the Devialet EXPERT 140 PRO can be perfectly adapted to any speaker. To do so, Devialet's Devialet EXPERTs regularly examine and measure the specific characteristics of a wide variety of speakers, building a growing database of speaker profiles. The SAM® settings as well as all other options can be conveniently set up with an online configurator and transferred to the device on an SD card.

In an increasingly digitized music world, the D / A converter is becoming increasingly important - its quality has a decisive influence on the possible sound quality when playing digital sources. That's why Devialet leaves nothing to chance here and relies on its own converter technology called DAC Magic Wire®. By cleverly integrating this technology into the device's infrastructure, the French have succeeded in shortening the distance between the D / A converter and loudspeaker connections to a record-breaking 5 cm, so that damaging influences on the sensitive analogue signal have no chance.

In terms of connectivity the Devialet EXPERT leaves 140 PRO nothing to be desired, he has connections for multiple digital and analog sources and even has a built-in phono stage for connecting a turntable. In addition, it receives musical data streams via LAN cable or wirelessly via WLAN. To control the streaming is a separate App of Devialet available, all other everyday functions are operated on the currently perhaps most beautiful remote control in the industry.

As all units of Devialet EXPERT series, the Devialet EXPERT based 140 PRO at Evo® platform Devialet and can be adjusted via software update on future technical developments, new standards or formats.
