PRODUCT DETAILS

A complete assessment in 90 seconds

BPM Core monitors blood pressure plus heart rate and helps detect two major under-diagnosed heart diseases, atrial fibrillation and the most prevalent forms of valvular heart diseases, which frequently occur among hypertensive people. Easily monitor and detect in the comfort of your home with the same method you'd use to take your blood pressure.

AFib detection

The integrated electrocardiogram (ECG) helps detect and records atrial fibrillation (AFib), the most common form of arrhythmia, which can lead to heart failure, fatigue and shortness of breath and is a major risk for stroke.

Valvular heart disease detection

The integrated digital stethoscope helps detect the most prevalent valvular heart diseases (VHD), characterized by a defect of heart valves that may require surgical intervention to avoid heart failure.

Trusted accuracy

BPM Core is an FDA-cleared medical device and is compliant with European medical device standards. You'll get color-coded feedback based on the ESH (European Society of Hypertension) and the AHA (American Heart Association) recommendations for hypertension.

Better by design

Get instant color-coded feedback on the LED screen of the device right after the measurement: systolic and diastolic blood pressure, heart rate. This compact device is rechargeable and lasts up to 6 months with one charge.

Seamless experience

You will find your full data history in the free Health Mate app via Wi-Fi or Bluetooth synchronization. With Wi-Fi synchronization, no need to have your smartphone next to you during or after the measurement as data is automatically synchronized via your home Wi-Fi network.

Keep your doctor in the loop

Use BPM Core for prevention or to check the efficacy of your treatment. Either way, a few taps on your smartphone is all it takes to share measurements with your doctor, including your ECG records.
