Polaroid 600 Color Film Color Frames Edition

Just like the camera it goes with, 600 film is straightforward and easy to use. It also comes in a variety of special editions, like this Colored Frame Edition. With it, you get the same rich, textured photos as classic 600 film, but each photo is framed in a different color – red, green, purple, and more. It's great for parties and kids' events, and you never know which color you're going to get next. Well, there's a secret, of course, but why spoil the fun?

Store chilled, shoot warm

Temperature affects how the film works. Keep it stored cold in the fridge, but never freeze it. Ideally you should let it adjust to room temperature before you use it. That's around 55–82°F (13–28°C). When it's cold out, keep your photos warm in a pocket close to your body while they develop. Or if it's a hot day, make sure they stay cool.

Shoot with the light

The more light in your shot, the better your photo will turn out. Instant film loves light, especially natural light. Use the flash for all your indoor photos. For best results we also recommend using the flash for outdoor shots, unless it's a bright sunny day.

Develop in the dark

All photos appear blank at first. They're most sensitive during this time, so don't bend or shake them. Shield them from the light, and place them face down as they develop. Keep B&W photos shielded from light for about 1 minute, and color film for about 6 minutes.

Care for your camera

Your camera has a set of rollers inside the film door. Each photo passes through these rollers as it's made, so it's important to make sure that they stay clean. If the rollers get visibly dirty then gently wipe them down with a soft, damp cloth.
